A Letter from the Past...

On January 26, 1883, Mary E. Clark, daughter of John Pleasant Thurman Reneau, wrote a letter to her uncle Isaac Tipton Reneau. John Pleasant was obviously named for the large Pleasants family of around Surry Co., VA, many generations of John Pleasants, all prosperous settlers. They lived near the Jordans, Wrights, and Washington families of that area. (Joseph Wright Reneau, Berry Jordan Reneau, Nathan Washington Reneau et al.)

The original of this letter is in the West Virginia University Charles C. Wise, Jr., Library, and the following are excerpts of the letter, telling her uncle Isaac news of various members of the family in 1883.

Thanks to Dollye McAlister Elliott for providing us a transcript of the letter. Mary Clark provides some interesting information, giving a vivid picture of life during her time. Especially interesting is her comment about a Washington connection to the Reneau line.

It will help a bit to understand the letter with the following information:

Polly was a favorite name of Mary Gipson Wood Reneau, Isaac Tipton Reneau's wife.

Mary and Samuel Clark had four children: Flora Mae (Clark) Young, Eugenia (Clark) Clough, Henrietta Eola Clark, and Augustin Clark.

John Pleasant Thurman Reneau and Susan Elizabeth Watson Reneau were parents of nine children: Mary Elizabeth (author of this letter), Lee Ann, Amanda, Sallie, Mattie, William, Abner, Corrine and an infant who died young. Mary Clark refers to some of her siblings in the letter.

"We have had a great deal of sickness in the family; until this summer and winter I have not known hardly a well day. I was in miserable health for four or five years until I went to Hot Springs five years ago. that improved me so much that I felt a new person two years. . . . But since then I have gradually fallen back until I am almost as bad as before I went. *** Tell Aunt Polly that Gussie is the largest boy to his age she ever saw. He will be fourteen the last day of March and is as large as most boys of 16 or 17. Eugenie, my eldest, is in her nineteenth year. She graduated in June '81, is not going to school now, but I would send her off to boarding school if I was able. I have two other children, Henrietta Eola, eleven years of age, and Maie, my baby, four. She is the very image of Gussie, as you saw him, same skin, hair, and eyes. *** Tell Aunt Polly that I say please send me a piece of the silk dress she made. And tell me just how long she was in raising the worms, spinning, weaving, making, and all. And how long ago it was. I think it was the first silk dress, made under the circumstances, in America. **** Uncle Isaac, I want to ask a favor of you. Tell me all you know about our family connections. Write it in the shape of a chart. I know that our connection is illustrious & that Grandma Reneau [Elizabeth (Thurman) Reneau] was Washington's cousin. On what side, I do not know. As Washington's kinsmen we are allied to the Duke of Buckingham and Lord Sulgrave, Earl of Southampton, the latter being [Col. John Washington's Grandfather. Such a connection should never be forgotten, but handed down from father to son, through generations. I would be more obliged than I can tell if you will be so kind as to do as I have asked. You know we once had a chart of the family, but it was destroyed during the [Civil] War. *** Give my love to all. I got a letter from Cousin Eunice in the fall, was very glad to hear from her but sorry to hear of her ill health. I addressed the letter to Horse Cave [KY]. They had been gone from there ten years. I wonder at its ever reaching her. *** What has become of Cousin Mary? has she ever married? Give her my love. How is Mrs. Harrison's family. I have not heard from them in a long time. Give them my love also. Could any of you come to Paducah I would be most happy to see you. ***

Lee was over just before Christmas. She has four children. Their eldest girl Lillie is eleven years of age. She spent Christmas week with [?Heinri.] She looks very much like Lee. [?Young] is running a train. Will is not doing any thing at present. He has not been doing any thing regular since he went out of the Grocery business. Matt is dead. She died in Memphis with the Yellow fever four years ago. Cousin Sallie [Sarah Eola Reneau], Uncle Nat's daughter, I suppose you know, is dead. Died in "78 of Yellow fever. [The 1878 Yellow Fever Epidemic hit the country and destroyed hundreds of thousands of people. DME has a copy of a letter Sallie, in Germantown, TN, during Epidemic wrote to her father, Nathaniel Smith Reneau in Washington D.C., as well as a newspaper clipping telling about Nat, en route to her bedside, finding that Sallie had died.]

Corinne is still living with me; she is not married yet. She is in her 24th year [age 23]. She could have married several times, but she did not care to. She is perfectly satisfied to remain as she is. She says when the right one comes along, maybe she will have him. ***

Give my love to all. Your Affectionate Niece, Mary E. Clark

Address to Mrs. S. H. Clark, Box 68, Paducah, Ky."

Another Interesting Reneau Book

In the April 2004 Reneau Review we started a section on Books about or by Reneau's. This is a fine book to increase your understanding of the "Battle of Little Bighorn."

Reno and Apsaalooka Survive Custer by Ottie W. Reno. (c. 1997 Rosemont Publishing) Marcus Reno and the author, Ottie Reno are fourth cousins twice removed. Their common ancestor is Lewis Reno (1676 – 1755). This is an especially interesting book since the author met with descendants of Crow Indians, whose ancestors had served as Crow Scouts under Reno. They, too, wanted to add their perspective. Ottie W. Reno delves into the decision making process as to why it took 78 years after Marcus Reno's death for his name to finally be cleared.

"Bare Feet" Was the Style at Beech Grove in 1894"

The photo above is a news clipping provided by Kathryn Mason Moore. It was printed in the Ivanhoe, CA newspaper under the "old photo" feature. It was noted that Mrs. Maggie Reneau Miller, daughter of Joseph Wickliffe Reneau, submitted the photo of the Class of 1894 at Eighty-eight, KY. After 71 years, Maggie Miller said she had done her best to identify each person in the photo, as she was 10 years old at the time! It was noted that she could name all but one face, without help.

We would like to place this in our Reneau Book. Does anyone have access to the photo (rather than a news clipping copy) that we could copy? It would be clearer if we copy a photo! Let me know at apdaniels1@msn.com or 17617 SE 34th Circle, Vancouver, WA. Thanks!
